

Praying

It is time to marinate myself in prayer.

Leaving behind much,

I anticipate more.

A new life awaits me

now that I am being left to live at the Temple.

I climb towards the future that has already begun.

I am not ready, and yet I am.

I move toward the light,

trusting that the way will be shown.

