

Talking Freely

I have always been grateful for our ability to talk comfortably together.

Although I knew from the beginning that you were much more than my son,
I always felt that as your mother
I could tell you exactly what was in my heart.

Others have always asked me to talk to you on their behalf.

They could approach you directly,
but they lack the confidence.
They say that it is easier to talk to me.

If only they knew you the way that I do.
They would not hesitate.